Tail of Tornado Heads Up Coast Toward Hub

The tail end of a storm that sent a triple tornado ripping through South Carolina, taking 26 lives and injuring 200 other persons, was headed for Boston today, according to weather bureau warnings.

New York City felt the impact of the storm shortly before noon, wind of gale force blowing over the metropolitan area, forcing planes to the ground and lashing shipping.

The weather bureau here predicted "moderate northeast and east gales" for Boston. While the wind will be strong, and accompanied probably by a deluge of rain, there will be no repetition of the hurricane that swept New England a week ago, it was stated.

Storm warnings were being flown the length of the Atlantic coast, from Eastport, Me., to Virginia.

GALE ALONG COAST

Rainfall at Hatteras, N. C., for the past 24 hours was 5.3 inches, and at Wilmington, N. C., 8.86 inches, according to reports.

The wind here in Boston had reached a velocity of 28 miles an hour shortly before noon, and was reported at gale strength—40 miles an hour—in various exposed sections of the coast.

Airlines here, however, were continuing operations on schedule for the time being.

In New York, one Boston-bound plane was forced to turn back and

Europe's Peace

- 1—New pact, virtually outlawing war between Britain and Germany, signed by Chamberlain and Hitler.

Army May Spurn Pact

PRAGUE, Sept. 30 (Copyright, 1938).—Stunned and incredulous, Czechoslovakia bowed to the sword today and accepted with reluctance and grave misgivings the four-power decision allowing Germany to enter the Sudetenland beginning tomorrow.

Faced with no alternative in view of the agreement signed "without and against her," Czechoslovakia announced her surrender early in the afternoon. But even the sturdiest Czechs were staggered by what they are certain is nothing less than a fatal blow to their national existence.

There is not one who can be persuaded that Hitler's troops will not eventually attempt to occupy the entire country instead of the Sudetenland alone.

FEAR TO TELL PEOPLE

Despair gripped those who listened to a British broadcast at 2 o'clock this morning announcing that Britain, France, Germany and Italy had decided to compel Czechoslovakia to submit, as they such as have never been imposed on any state in peacetime and seldom on one defeated in war. Yet only a fraction of the population heard the full details over the radio and up to late afternoon no official communique describing Prague's capitulation had been given to the public.

The cabinet debated how best to break the news, for there was widespread apprehension over serious demonstrations.

ARMY MAY REVOLT

Above all, there is profound anxiety as to how the Czech army will respond to orders to evacuate its fortifications and thus surrender the last chance of resisting the Germans if they choose to march farther than the agreement provides.

Public excitement mounted as the news spread. Crowds poured into the streets in front of newspaper offices excitedly discussing the agreement. Police patrols were increased and ex-soldiers

Ban War 'Forever'

By PIERRE J. HUSS

MUNICH, Sept. 30 (Copyright, 1938).—The Czechoslovakian problem disposed of, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today signed an Anglo-German peace pact of far-reaching scope and importance.

After a two-hour private conference with the Fuehrer, held as Prague reluctantly agreed to the four-power agreement legalizing German invasion of the Sudetenland starting tomorrow, the prime minister announced that he and Hitler had signed a momentous declaration agreeing that consultation shall be the method of dealing with all Anglo-German questions.

Both he and Hitler, Chamberlain declared, regard the agreement reached last night, satisfying the Fuehrer's demands in Czechoslovakia as "symbolic of the desire of our two peoples never to go to war against one another."

FACT THEY SIGNED

The moment he had finished his history-making declaration, the prime minister motored to the Munich airport, boarded his private plane and left for London at 2:20 p. m. (9:20 a. m., Boston Time). "I have always had in mind," the premier said, "that if I could find a peaceful solution of this problem of Czechoslovakia, we should open a way to general appeasement in Europe."

"This morning I talked with the Fuehrer. We both signed the following declaration:

"We, the German Fuehrer and Chancellor and the British prime minister, have had a further meeting today and are agreed in recognizing that the question of Anglo-German relations is of first importance for the two countries and the Europe."

"We regard the agreement signed last night and the Anglo-

Scantly Clad Wife Flees Mate

Killing Ends Gay N. H. House Party

KEENE, N. H., Sept. 30—An enraged husband, pursuing his pretty, young wife as she fled in terror to a neighbor's home, allegedly fired a fusillade of rifle shots into the midst of a gay party here early today, instantly killing one guest and wounding another.

SLAIN AT PARTY—Family portrait shows Ralph E. Pratt, 39, who was shot to death at a Keene, N. H., party. Maurice Boomhower is being held. In the picture are Pratt, his wife, Rose, and sons, Ralph, Jr., seven, and Leon, five.

The accused man, Maurice Boomhower, 22, surrendered to police and was held without bail when arraigned in Keene Municipal Court on a charge of murder.

The shooting took place at the home of William LaCroix, who was entertaining in honor of his brother, Roland LaCroix, 27, a U. S. Army soldier, on furlough.

SOLDIER IS WOUNDED

The guest slain was Ralph Pratt, 39. He was married and the father of three small children.

Roland LaCroix, the guest of honor, was wounded, but was pronounced out of danger after treatment at Keene hospital.

Police said Boomhower had been at the LaCroix party earlier in the evening with Mrs. Boomhower. He was under the influence of liquor, however, and Mrs. Boomhower persuaded him to take her home, police said.

There they quarrelled, the wife declared.

GREETED WITH BULLETS

According to the young wife's story, Boomhower came into the bedroom as she was undressing and threatened to kill her.

Only partly clad, she fled to the LaCroix house, she said, seeking protection.

One of the LaCroix guests, William Barcomb, volunteered to go to the Boomhower home and act as peacemaker.

Boomhower greeted him with a blast from the rifle, Barcomb told police.

Soon after Barcomb returned to the LaCroix home, Boomhower also appeared there and allegedly shoved the muzzle of the rifle through a window and opened fire.

WOMAN GUEST FAINS
Pratt fell, shot through the back. Another shot struck Roland LaCroix.

A third whizzed by the head of a woman guest, attractive, red-haired Mrs. Pearl Howe, 27. She fainted and witnesses believed she also killed.

Police said Boomhower ran to the home of Joseph Gagne, another resident of the neighborhood, and shouted wildly:

"My wife is being beaten to death with a hammer. Take me to the police station!"

Gagne drove him by auto to police headquarters, where an alarm from the LaCroix home had already been received.

Two young women were killed and three other persons, including a honeymoon couple, seriously injured today in an auto crash on the Boston-Providence super-highway in Norwood.

The dead are Miss Bronie Navickas, 23, of Weld avenue, Norwood, and Mrs. Florence Hubbard, 36, of Hill street, Norwood.

They were passengers in a light sedan operated by Miss Navickas' brother, John Navickas, 17. The latter escaped with a broken nose and minor head and back injuries. In the other car involved in the accident were George Harwood, 25, of South Main street, Sharon, and his bride of last Sunday, Mrs. Gretchen Harwood, 24.

The husband was feared lying at Norwood hospital, with a fractured skull and internal injuries. Mrs. Harwood also at the hospital, was expected to recover. She suffered lacerations of the scalp and leg.

Impact of the collision piled one auto on top of the other. Mrs. Hubbard was killed instantly. Miss Navickas died an hour later at Norwood hospital.

Fannie Seeks Divorce Today

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30 (AP) — A year ago, Billy Rose, 38, said he was going to ask Fannie Brice, who doesn't give her age, to divorce him so he could marry Eleanor Holm, who is 24.

Fannie will now take the first legal step to comply with her third husband's repeated requests. Martin Gang, her attorney, announced that Fannie's suit for divorce would be filed here today.

Although Rose, short-statured, stage of big spectacles, and Eleanor, a swimmer, have been telling reporters for months about their "it" engagement, Miss Brice will not name Miss Holm in her action, Gang indicated.

She will charge mental cruelty and desertion and she will not ask alimony, Gang said.

When singing Art Jarrett divorced Eleanor here last June, he said that all that talk about his wife wanting to marry Billy Rose

Nice Trouble! Money Too Big

ASTORIA, Ore. (INS) — Early-day Astorians had "money trouble," too, though they were different than those of the present era, judging from an old news story dug out of the files by Historical Records Survey, a WPA project.

Printed in the Weekly Astorian 1884, the article said:

"There is a present scarcity of small change. Ten and twenty dollar pieces are plenty enough, but silver is scarce. Nothing so disconcerts a sensitive man as to be obliged to fumble over a handful of gold, trying to find a 10-cent or a 5-cent piece."

ALUMINUM 'EYE'

MT. PALOMAR, Cal. (INS) — The 1,998,000 pounds of steel and 35,000 pounds of highly processed glass used in building the world's largest telescope here depend on a single ounce of aluminum. This is all the metal required to coat the surface of the huge mirror for the 200-inch "eye."

The board's decision follows a long controversy with the administration of Gov. Martin L. Davey over the administration of old age assistance in Ohio and charges that Davey had used the set-up for political purposes.

Court Holds 5 In Kidnaping

Three men and two women were held on kidnaping, robbery and conspiracy charges when they were arraigned in West Roxbury court today.

A third man, now in jail in New Bedford, will face similar charges when he is returned here.

Held today were Andrew Farrar, 23, Sturtevant avenue, Norwood; his wife, Nellie, 19; John Eppich, 24, of Norwood; Charles Howard, 23, Nichols street, Norwood, and Mrs. Alfred Guerrini, 27, Main street, Mansfield.

TAVERN MAN VICTIM

Mrs. Guerrini's husband is held in New Bedford.

Police charge that Farrar, Eppich and Guerrini kidnaped and robbed Frank Twiss, center street, Jamaica Plain, owner of a tavern at Berkeley and Tremont streets, Boston, the night of August 29.

They took him to Palmer, committing a series of minor burglaries en route, robbed him of $50, and left him with $1 and his car, it is alleged.

WAIVE HEARING

According to the police, Mrs. Farrar, Mrs. Guerrini and Howard all were implicated by reason of the alleged fact that they are supposed to have kept watch for Twiss in front of his home.

Farrar, Mrs. Farrar, Eppich and Mrs. Guerrini all waived examination today. Howard, however, refused to waive examination, and his case was continued to a week from today. He was held in $500.

Rail Strike Responsibility Laid to Unions

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—

Counsel for the nation's railroads asserted today that labor organizations, "and they alone" are responsible for the emergency which threatens a nation-wide rail strike. J. Carter Fort, speaking for the carriers, made this charge as the emergency board appointed by President Roosevelt opened its public hearings in search of a way to avert a strike over a proposed 15 per cent wage cut.

Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy of the North Carolina Supreme Court told representatives for carriers and the railroad brotherhoods that the board's "mission is findings of fact."

"Our desire is to get a full picture," the tall judge remarked as he asked lawyers on each side to work out an informal agreement for dividing time. Several hundred persons, chiefly men, packed the large caucus room on the House office building more than an hour before the hearing started.

Fr. Murray, 33, Seminary Head

The Rev. Edward G. Murray, Ph. D. 33, today became the youngest director of St. John's Seminary in the history of the Archdiocese of Boston in a transfer approved by Cardinal O'Connell.

Father Murray is a graduate of Holy Cross College and St. John's Seminary. He was appointed a professor at St. John's in 1931 and assistant chancellor in 1933.

Newton Man Asks U. S. Review on Tax

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Robert H. Gross of West Newton, Mass., asked the board of tax appeals today to review an internal revenue charge he owed $9011 on 1936 income taxes.

He contended revenue commissioner erred in refusing to allow for the worthlessness of bank stock he held and for losses on the sale of other stocks.

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (INS)—Five happy marriages and children. Lots of 'em. But no show business.

That's the picture of the future that Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe has drawn in his mind's eye for the Dionne quintuplets.

The affable little backwoods physician told of his hopes and fears for the famous youngsters today before hurrying back to Callander, Ont., and an impatiently awaited reunion with them.

He has been away from his charges for nearly a week fighting a $10,000 breach of contract suit brought against him and three other defendants by a Chicago promoter who wanted to exhibit the Dionnes when they were infants.

The suit was dismissed in federal court yesterday without any defense testimony on the grounds Ivan I. Spock, the promoter, had failed to prove his case.

The jurors, who showed more interest in Dr. Dafoe than in the evidence during the two-day trial, crowded around him for an autograph after it was over.

"Ye uknow," one said, "we were ready to decide for you after the first day, but we wanted you to go on the witness stand. We thought we would hear something interesting."

"Le docteur" as the quins call him, took the whole proceeding in stride.

"I'm not surprised," he said when asked how he felt about winning the case. "I haven't been surprised at a thing since the night those five babies were born."

Almost shyly he remarked: "They sent me a telegram every day during the trial. They want to know where 'Le Docteur' is and when he will be back. They sent me their love."

Fireman Hurt in South End Blaze

A fireman was hurt today in a spectacular two-alarm fire which swept the three-story building at 13 Shawmut street, South End.

Damage was $25,000. The building, once a church, is occupied by the Hairenik Association, an organization of Armenians.

Drawn from night clubs and restaurants in the neighborhood, a crowd of 1500 watched the stubborn blaze. The department was on the scene for more than two hours.

Leo Thompson of Nelson street, Dorchester, of the crew of Engine 7, who was hurt, went home after hospital treatment.

Workers Save 19 in Billerica

BILLERICA, Sept. 30—Rushing into a burning hospital here today, WPA workers employed on a nearby road project aided attendants in rescuing 19 helpless patients.

Age of those saved ranged from 60 to 85, and several of the ailing old people were also blind.

The fire swept through the Farnum Hospital, a private institution occupying the former Governor Thomas Talbot mansion, long a North Billerica landmark.

A general alarm was sounded for the blaze, which was fought by apparatus from Billerica and Lowell.

The hospital, operated by Mrs. Merle Farnum, took care principally of patients receiving old age pensions.

The fire loss was estimated at $15,000.

Moscow Peeved, Says Nothing

MOSCOW, Sept. 30 (INS)—Soviet Russia, scarcely able to conceal its frowns, applied the "silent treatment" today to the peace pact signed at Munich by Britain, France, Germany and Italy.

Chagrined at being isolated from the western European move toward a general appeasement, the Soviet government offered no comment on the four-power agreement.

Editorial pages of Moscow newspapers likewise withheld all remarks concerning the pact.

The general feeling among officials here, however, was summed up by the Geneva correspondent of the newspaper Izvestia, who wrote sarcastically:

"Chancellor Hitler's game is to play on nerves, with Prime Minister Chamberlain's nerves not strong enough to stand the strain."

Alleged 'Pal' Tells of Gun At Death Trial

Henry Richards, alleged accomplice, who has turned state's evidence, took the witness stand before Judge Wilford Gray and jury in Middlesex Criminal Court today against Walter St. Sauveur and Wallace Green, on trial accused of the holdup-murder of William Phillips, Somerville storekeeper.

"The day after the Phillips stickup," Richards testified, "St. Sauveur came to my home and gave me a gun. He said it had 'killed someone,' and that it was 'hot,' and asked me to get rid of it."

"He told me he himself had done some of the shooting, and that Green and another fellow named Joe had been with him."

The state closed its case on Richards' testimony and the reading of a letter from Green, in jail when he wrote it, to his sister, Mae. "You must do what I tell you. It means life or the chair," this letter read in part.

"Go down and see Joe. Give him $35 or $40 and tell him to go to Maine and get me a .45 automatic short-barreled gun."

"Also get a couple of dozen slugs and a couple of saws. They must be good ones because I have to saw the bars here."

The letter, which contained further directions as to how the gun and saws were to be smuggled to Green in the jail, was intercepted by Sheriff McElroy, it was testified.

Democrats Lay Planks

By ALFRED I. WHELTON

Flood control, social security, labor and national defense were outstanding today in resolutions proposed at a meeting of Democratic leaders preliminary to the state convention scheduled at Tremont Temple tomorrow.

The resolutions committee is due to meet in executive session tonight for final drafts of party planks that will be placed before the 1975 delegates at tomorrow's session.

Republican leaders simultaneously went into action in preparations for the convention of the G. O. P. to be held also at Tremont Temple but not until next Tuesday.

Leaders of both parties met at the Parker House for the pre-convention activities.

Governor Hurley, defeated by former Governor James M. Curley in the contest for Democratic nomination, will not attend the convention because of his trip to Washington in connection with the one's flood and hurricane relief program.

Lieutenant-Governor Francis E. Eddy, also defeated by Curley, is not decided today as to whether or not he would attend as acting governor to extend the meetings of the commonwealth.

Both Hurley and Kelly have said in formal statements that they will support Curley at the November election in spite of the 1933 primary campaign that led to have split the party.

While neither party considered formal action today on the Townsend plan, both were known to be concerned over the independent candidacy of William H. McMaster, who has declared himself a Townsend advocate.

As revealed in yesterday's Boston Evening American, headquarters of the Townsend clubs have advised against voting for independent candidates, even though they carry the plan label, but it is expected by both parties that the designation "Townsend Recovery Plan" after McMaster's name on the ballot will gather him a goodly number of votes.

Wife Pushing Fight to Regain Custody of Girl

PLYMOUTH, Sept. 30.—A hard-working Scotch woman today charged "meddlesome, cigarette-smoking fashionables" with inspiring the S. P. C. C. to take her 13-year-old daughter from her.

Mrs. James Yuill and her mill-worker husband of Sandwich street, were on the eve of a return to Scotland when the daughter, Marion, was taken.

The woman agent of the society was flanked by two policemen when she took the child into custody.

The mother said today she was able to get no information from society agents, but would fight the case through to the highest court. Lothrop Withington, a Boston lawyer for whom she worked on occasions, is interesting himself in the case.

He will ask Judge George Poland of Brockton Probate Court, who issued the order authorizing the taking of the girl, to rescind that order.

The Yuills have four other children, and were ready to sail on the Tuscania from New York when Marion was removed from their custody.

'Mother,' 67 To Fight for Foundling

WOONSOCKET, R. I., Sept. 20.—Elderly Mrs. Anna J. Webb will fight through the probate court, if necessary, for custody of the seven-year-old foundling found here she took care of when the child was about a year old.

At the suggestion of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the probate court has ordered the girl, Mary Louise Lyons, to be placed in another home.

Before that the court had to meet Mrs. Webb's application for adoption papers.

The unmarried mother of the girl made a formal declaration of maternity in supporting Mrs. Webb's plea for custody.

She said that Mrs. Webb, who is 67, had been kind and was in caring for the girl.

In the probate court hearing, the S. P. C. C. was supported by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Public Welfare.

Red Cross Asks More for Relief

As federal relief agencies today were completing plans for distribution of millions of dollars throughout storm-wrecked New England, the Red Cross had doubled the quota it seeks for rehabilitation projects.

An upward revision of Red Cross financial needs from $20,000,000 to $40,000,000 was announced by the national director, chief executive, Robert E. Handy, after a two-day tour of the devastated areas.

The quota sought has doubled, will be applied to the relief of New England families whose homes and farms were damaged or destroyed and who are unable to finance their needs.

A the same time, Handy said, the Red Cross is asking for more money to help the needy in the South and West.

Handy for reclamation work at the WPA employees of the department, offered for private jobs.

"It has been brought to our attention," declared Colonel Mc Donough, "that employers in private industry are finding difficulty in obtaining skilled workers in certain crafts."

"I wish to assure all WPA workers that if they accept private employment and then, through no fault of their own, they lose that employment, they will be permitted to return to WPA work immediately."

"I further desire to warn WPA employees that our regulations require them to accept private employment when offered under penalty of discharge for refusal."

In getting on Monday the Bureau Committee Corporation was asked to purchase 100 carloads of goods without for distribution among New England welfare agencies.

GRANTS ARE URGED
Corporation officials said they would also buy up poultry and foodstuffs if their market prices dropped.

Patrick J. Moynihan, chairman of the Massachusetts emergency committee, set up by Governor Hurley, announced that 13 cities and towns in Massachusetts had a total property loss of $13,550,000.

Outright federal grants to these stricken communities and temporary extension of qualifying requirements for WPA employment were urged by Kenneth J. Taylor, assistant treasurer of the Massachusetts State Federation of Labor.

His requests were submitted to Federal WPA Administrator Harry L. Hopkins and to Ray State member of the National House of Representatives at Washington.

TO OUR DEALERS IN STORM-SWEPT NEW ENGLAND

SINCERE THANKS FOR THE FINE JOB YOU DID

YOUR record during the hurricane was remarkable. We are proud of it.

Your stations in many cases were severely damaged. Your pumps, dependent on electricity, were not working.

It is amusing now to hear of the bicycles, sewing machines, lawn mower engines you used to help pump gasoline.

But at the time, as we all know, these were desperate measures to furnish a vitally important service.

For within an hour doctors, hospitals, relief groups were in critical need of petroleum products.

Your courage and ingenuity, and the work of hundreds of loyal Socony employees—in case after case that we know of—successfully met this emergency.

To the utilities and to state, county and municipal authorities we all are indebted for swift repair of washed out and blocked roads.

Their efficient work cleared the way for deliveries by hundreds of Socony trucks.

To the public, speaking for all 7000 Socony dealers in the storm area—we also say a very sincere "Thank you!"—

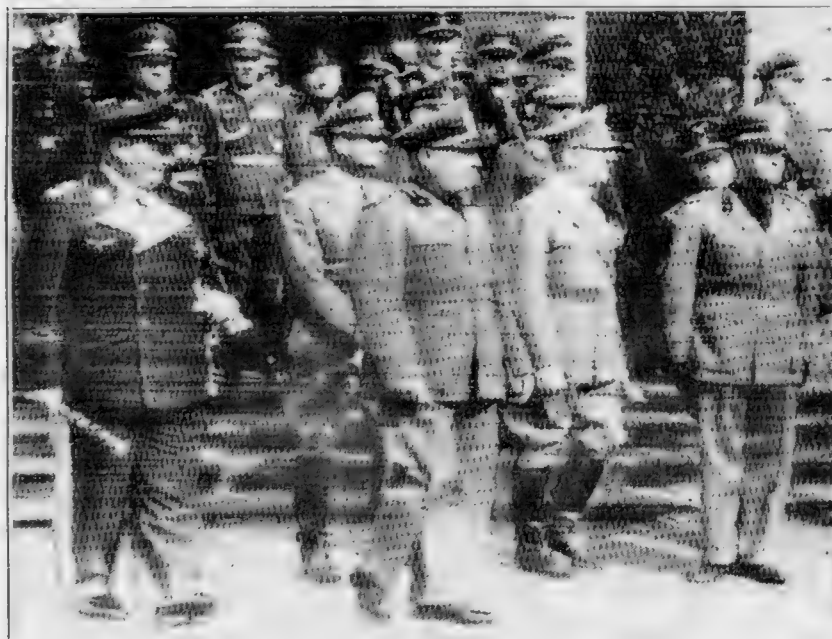

... for understanding how hard it is to give complete service under such severe conditions and for overlooking any breaches which resulted from the storm.

Nazis, Britain In No-War Pact

CONSTITUTIONAL AGREEMENT AS WITH
None of the Article of our two posies never to go to war with one another again.

THE LIFE OF PARROT

We are resolved that the method of consultation shall be the method adapted to deal with any other question that may concern our two countries, and we are determined to continue our efforts to remove possible sources of difference and thus contribute to the peace of Europe.

STAY INSIDE ALL WAYS

The authors thank the anonymous reviewers for their comments and suggestions. This work was supported by National Science Foundation Grant IBN-9706899.

it there may never be another war in Europe.

On 14 February 1992, a 20-year-old male, 1.75 m tall, 70 kg, with a body mass index of 22.6, was referred to the clinic by his general practitioner. He had been ill for 2 months with a 10 kg weight loss, anorexia, and a general feeling of malaise. He had no fever, cough, or other symptoms. The general condition was poor.

NAZIS TO MARCH IN

The little he had left to say was anticommunist. He repeated the Potsdam agreement and said that German troops with the backing of British, French and U.S. would march into the Eastern zone of occupation in 1945.

He added the hope that in view of developments general demobilization would soon begin. The inference was that he had already discussed this important angle with Hitler and that the Fuehrer presumably is ready to dismantle his present army of almost 2,000,000 men as soon as the other nations take apart their war machinery.

CONSISTENT POLYMER

If further difficulties arise out of the agreement signed this morning I hope they will be dealt with through ordinary diplomatic channels or, if the necessity arises, by direct talks between the heads of the European states."

Czech Carving Under Way

MUNICH, Sept. 30 (AP)—An international commission quickly undertook today to carry out the plans that Europe's big four among statesmen drafted to save Europe from war.

The commission was named early today and met briefly before flying to Berlin to complete an organization for supervising details of ending Czechoslovakia's Sudeten German territory to Germany.

Named on the commission were Sir Neville Henderson, British Ambassador to Berlin; Adolf Franasz, Polish Ambassador; Count Ernst von Weizsacker, German Secretary of State; and Bernardino Attanasio, Italian Ambassador to Berlin with the Czechoslovak minister to Berlin, Dr. August Mastny, also to be the fifth member.

They were to supervise the execution of the plan, the selection of areas to be occupied and those in which it is to be carried out, and to advise the German government.

HUNGARY, POLAND NEXT

Details of the agreement to delivering Czechoslovak territory to Germany were in Munich and for working out details of the plan to end the Czechoslovak Republic and the transfer of its territory to Germany.

The plan was to be carried out in three stages. The first stage was to be the occupation of the Sudetenland, the second stage was to be the occupation of the rest of the country, and the third stage was to be the occupation of the rest of the country.

WAR STILL FEARED

War was feared around the world as the plan to end the Czechoslovak Republic and the transfer of its territory to Germany was being carried out.

The plan was to be carried out in three stages. The first stage was to be the occupation of the Sudetenland, the second stage was to be the occupation of the rest of the country, and the third stage was to be the occupation of the rest of the country.

Hitler Coup Big Step in His Empire Dream

MUNICH, Sept. 30 (AP)—Adolf Hitler has effected the greatest step of his career toward the creation of a great German empire, a step greater than that of the pre-war empire.

Now that the Czechoslovakian government has agreed to the Sudetenland, the four-power agreement has been signed and the war is over.

Fannie Brice to Play Fashion Expert in Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
 Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30—You needn't smile at the idea of Fanny Brice playing a fashion expert in "New York Cinderella" because Fanny is one of Hollywood's best dressed women when she isn't wearing her baby snooks rompers.

Joe Von Sternberg is so happy that the inimitable Rrice is to furnish a spot of comedy in Henry Lunn's next opus with Spencer Tracy that he fairly beamed when he told me about it.

 Louella O. Parsons

When the bus, escorted by Tampa police, walked into the Times-Wednesday night newsroom, it was a sight that could have made a priest blush. All heads turned in the direction of the attractive pair who at the time were in matrimony. They were soon joined by Pat Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck and all four heads of hair.

Tyrone and Nemo were seen everywhere together for over a year. Then something happened and Tyrone and Janet Gaynor were seldom apart (of course that was before the advent of Adriani). Ty once told me that he didn't expect to marry anyone for a long time and that was one reason he did not feel he should be seen exclusively with any one girl.

Mickey Mouse must be biting his claws since the preview of Walt Disney's new cartoon, that enters a few nights ago. Though Mickey is still as Clark Gableish as ever, the lion's share of attention went to Ferdinand, the Bull (who prefers to sit and dream and smell flowers to bull fighting), to the ugly duckling (who has by-sterics when he gets a peck at his own face in the water and to Little Bo Peep in Hollywood.

Bo Peep is Katharine Hepburn to a "T," and when she draws, "I have lost my sheep and don't know where to find them really I don't!"—the house came down.

A Line Or Two: Surprised to hear that Fernand Gravel is still in New York when everyone, including his agent and M-G-M, thought he had sailed for France to join his wife and mother. Like many others, he is probably waiting the outcome of the conference of the big four in Munich.

Snapshots of Hollywood

Joan Blondell, worn out from nursing her little boy Norman, who has been sick, collapsed on the set at Warners and had to be taken home; Nancy Carroll, reported to be the author of the book "Grayson" any day now; Conrad Nagel hasn't missed a day telephoning Joan Fontaine from San Francisco where he is appearing with "Faust"; Errol Flynn was so much better yesterday he was able to leave the hospital of the hospital in a week; Janet Gaynor has her first very short hair cut and it is most becoming; Ray Milland is now a full-fledged American; Elaine and John Barrymore spending a winter afternoon collecting detective

Keith's 'Youth Takes a Fling' Is Gay Comedy

YOUTH TAKES A FINE, REsults in the Kent Memorial series teams Joel McCrea and Andrea
Leeds in a light perhaps too light
- comedy on the girl-meets-boy order.

The screen play is by Myles Connolly. Joseph, Mr. McGinnis, from a Kansas town driving a truck in the service of the New York department store employer, the fetching and clified Miss Leeds.

Any stray wags of comedy that might have remained in the honest young country boy, — he easily turned to time leave Miss Leeds that have that way. Need anyone say that she was?

Struggle though he may at he must! — the strapping son Kansas is brought to those who are after him and who shall be glad to give him money a job, but that funny pair, Frank J. and Dorothea Kent, who, — thus engaged, provide many a moment of high hilarity.

Particularly comic is the argumentation of Mr. Jenks and Miss Kent, together with what is known as "a bit of business" in a crowded subway train. You will be hearing from these two as a comedy duo soon again.

Together with "Youth Takes a Fling," the Keith Memorial is showing "The Affairs of Arabia," which would be the latest adventure of Mr. Jack Oakie, aided and abetted by Laurel and Hardy.

In this one Mr. Oakie completely reverses his position becoming a press agent. But, still being Mr. Oakie there's some thing pleasantly new about the press agent.

My Experience In the Storm

By WILLIAM NICHOLLS, JR.
3 Philip Street, Neponset, Mass.

My home is located near the Neponset bridge and directly in the rear of the house is a boat yard.

During the progress of the hurricane I ran from my home to a shed in the boat yard to watch a boat moored in the river for itself against the Neponset railroad bridge.

As I stood there watching the boat being smashed, I suddenly heard a terrific crash and looking I saw the huge shed roof collapse all around me.

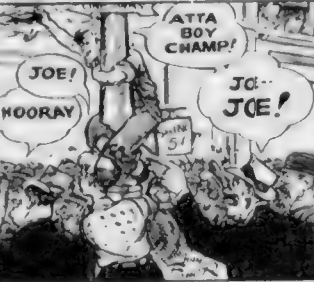

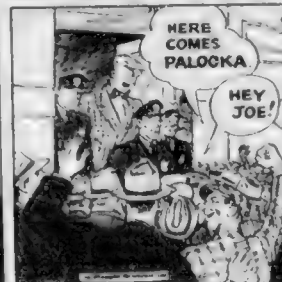

I made a leap for safety but in vain for I was deemed to death. Then something seemed to hit me, a terrific blow on the head and I was left helpless.

When I came to, I was propped up at the top of the demolished building with all my clothing gone and only one shoe left.

Cubs Worried Over Injury To Hartnett

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (INS)—Ten straight, and by 10 to 1. That was the decisive writing Chicago's Cubs added to the National League record when they crushed the Pittsburgh Pirates before 42,628 pop-eyed witnesses at Wrigley Field.

Bill Lee, every day Bill Lee, was the winning pitcher, grabbing his 22d of the year, as the Cubs entrenched themselves firmly in first place, with but three games, and those away from home, to go.

It is possible, however, that they will have to carry on without the further services of their heroic leader, Gabby Hartnett.

The second finger on his throwing hand was torn by a foul tip from Johnny Rizzo's bat, just before Bill Lee slipped the third strike past him to end the ball game.

Bugs Baer Writes:— Cubs Won Name In Diamond War

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Copyright, 1939, by International News Service)

Chicago rates a bugography because of its terrific mid-season spurt in the twilight of the works. The more the Cubs play the better they get.

Like Simon Legree slapping Uncle Tom with the cat, they were whipping themselves into shape.

Maybe you'd like to know how the Cubs got their name? Sign here. They got it in 1850 when Pop Anson's noble lads hopped to the Brotherhood, Williamson, Pfeffer, Darling, Dwyer, Duffy and Farrell jumped to the local Brotherhood team and left Pop holding a barrel with both ends knocked out.

Up until that time of day the team had been known as the White Stockings. They wore white caps, white stockings and long blue trousers to make 'em different from the Cincinnati Red Sox. Well, those six grasshoppers were followed by Tener, who scrambled to the Pittsburghs, Gurnett to Boston and Van Halten to Brooklyn. In those days players were as loyal as fleas waiting for a bigger dog to come along.

All Pop had left consisted of Burns, Hutchinson and himself. So he hooked up a lot of kids you never heard of, Vickery, Stein, Graff, Jiggs, Farrott, Root, Ryan, Schriver and so on until exhausted. The fans called this huddle of cradle-bait the Colts, Babies and Cubs. The last name stuck. There's a reason for everything in this world except the parley on fish.

Anson, Pfeffer, Williamson and Burns were the most corrugated, the toughest and the most beloved infield that ever stepped in base ball. They were the first to ride in open barchutes to the ball field between lanes of cheering and hooting fans.

The next great Chicago infield was some time in the cooking. Chance got there in 1899 as a part-time catcher, doubling in the outfield in 1901 and finally landing in the infield in 1902.

The year 1902 was the first one for a fellow named Tinker and little Johnny Evers. The historic combination got real good in 1906 and didn't break up until 1913 when Johnny Evers succeeded Chance as manager. Here's the way the Cubs finished from 1896 to 1912, worst from there to the Yanks and now owns the Washingtons. Clark's slow ball was famous. He threw one that a man swung at three times before it reached the catcher on the fifth bounce. This is the only time a batter ever struck out on one pitched darning. Griffith may deny this; But he balances things by claiming everything else.

POND FEARS COLUMBIA

Yale is a little nervous over the outcome of the Columbia game . . . Bucky Pond realizes that Lou Little has been gunning his Lions to win the Heisman. And, furthermore, he knows that there isn't a coach in the game that can match Columbia Lou when called upon to point for one game . . . Now, it would seem that Bill Lee is the most valuable man in the National League. In four days, he pitched the Cubs to two wins and figured in the other two games. . . . Secretary Sam Walters remained in Pittsburgh to supervise the building of new bleachers at Forbes Field. . . . He won't recover until a week after "Pie" Traynor comes to . . . Due to the fact that the Reds are fighting the Giants for third place, the Cubs will get a square shake in Cincinnati. . . . Johnny Valentine, the old Harvard catcher, is in the floodlight business down in Fall River and schools are swamping him with orders. . . . The Cubs prevented the Pittsburgh hotels from milking the visiting firemen. One hotel refused to make reservations until the guests signed a contract not only to pay $8.00 per day European plan but to stay put until the series was over in the Smokey City. . . . Jimmy Fox has been watching Buddy Myer but right now Ben Chapman is the real threat for the American League batting honors. . . . Jimmy is hitting for 347 and Ben is just four points in arrears, with Buddy an even 340. . . . Lou Fette and Dick Erickson let Casey Stengel down in the second game yesterday and before he was able to derriek them, the Dodgers had scored eight runs. . . . The Bees must win both games against the Giants to the last year's number of victories. . . . Jimmy Bagley had something when he asked Tiny Parker, the National League umpire when he (Tiny) was going to get his Buick. . . . Parker's ruling on Gabby Hartnett's grand slam homer at National League Field, put the Cubs in the pennant race. . . . For every game he won for the Phillies, Bucky Walters received, as a present one gallon of gin from Manager Jimmy Wilson. . . . Bill McKechnie didn't realize that Bucky needed an added incentive to win. Or did he and refused to dig? . . . Bob Keller has turned back 222 batters on strikes this season. . . . And, Fritz Ostermiller has won as many games (13) as he did during the 1938 and 1937 seasons. . . . Joe Handrahan, the former Dartmouth guard, is coaching the line at Citadel and his front wall all but brought about the defeat of Georgia. . . . Joe Vosmik has made 200 hits this season, despite the fact that because of a lame leg, he got off to a slow start.

Columbia Picked To Defeat Yale

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—With one foot in the water bucket and the other ready to follow in the same general direction on an instant's notice, this football guessing corner surveys this week's program, takes one deep breath, and whispers hoarsely.

MINNESOTA-NEBRASKA: Biff Jones' cornhuskers shocked Minnesota a year ago and may have lined up another surprise party for tomorrow. But the speed and resourcefulness Minnesota uncovered against Washington a week ago seems to entitle Bertie Bierman's Gophers to the nod here.

CORNELL-COLGATE: The Cornell, George Peck, Whit Baker, et al., are coming back to the wars with what looks like a real power-house. Andy Kerr had a bad season at Colgate last year and there's no indication yet that the Scotsman has much more than hope right now.

TENNESSEE-CLEMSON: The question here is whether one of the best of recent Clemson teams can make it two in a row over strong Southwestern Conference foes. The Tigers upset Tulane a week ago and ought to be even money with Tennessee.

STANFORD-SANTA CLARA: The Stanforders are having a little line trouble and probably won't be ready for this. Santa Clara.

RICE-OKLAHOMA: The champions of the Southwest Conference take the blankets off Big Eddie Laine. That would appear to be Oklahoma's headline. Rice.

YALE-COLUMBIA: One of the hardest of them all to figure. Despite the loss of last year's all-star backfield, Yale threatens to be as tough as ever. Columbia's veteran eleven, with Sid Luckman pitching passes, will be no bargains for any rival, especially during the early season before injuries have cut into Lou Little's customary small squad. The coin says Columbia.

TEMPLE-PITT: May be too close for comfort but this corner closes along with Pitt.

HARVARD-BROWN: Tuss McLaughry seldom gets enough material at Brown to keep the Bruins within hailing distance of their major rivals. They look better this year, but not enough to smear the Crimson. Harvard.

ARMY-VIRGINIA TECH: Army packs too much power for the Southerners.

NAVY-VIRGINIA MILITARY: Ditto Navy but it probably will be much closer.

PENN-LAFAYETTE: Lafayette's Leopards were unbeaten last year but this shot in the dark picks Penn.

OHIO STATE-INDIANA: Who let this one get in so early in the campaign? The Hoosiers ruined Ohio State's otherwise perfect Big Ten slate a year ago and are out to do it again. This wavering guess says, however, that it's Ohio State's turn.

MICHIGAN-MICHIGAN STATE: Fritz Crisler has moved his base from Princeton to Michigan and this marks his formal bow. The salute should go to Crisler but the ball game, the coin says, will go to State.

NORTHWESTERN-KANSAS STATE: Northwestern, after a struggle.

NOTRE DAME-KANSAS: The Irish had better tend to their knitting or the eight-ball will get them here. Notre Dame.

WISCONSIN-MARQUETTE: Marquette badgered Wisconsin.

TULANE-AUBURN: This is the spot for Auburn to prove it is headed for the top. Auburn, narrowly.

SOUTH CAROLINA-GEORGIA: Hoot storm warnings. Not much to choose and no place to duck. A ticket, a basket. Georgia.

TEXAS-LOUISIANA STATE: Two teams last week got together. It may be sheer stubbornness in this battle goes to L. & U.

True Story on Adamick Under Investigation

DETROIT, Sept. 30 (AP)—The condition of Jimmy Adamick, young Midland, Mich., heavyweight injured in a boxing match with Roscoe Toles Wednesday, was reported by Henry Ford Hospital this morning as "satisfactory."

It was understood, however, that the fighter remained in a semi-conscious state.

Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea has postponed until Monday his formal inquiry in the case.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 30 (INS)—An investigation is in full swing of the second boxing fiasco in which heavyweight contender Jimmy Adamick has figured in the last few months.

With medical authorities declaring the fighter never should have been permitted to enter the ring because of his condition, Wayne County Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea ordered a complete investigation of the bout in which Adamick suffered a severe head injury.

He chiefly demanded to know the truth of reports that Adamick had been a patient at the Henry Ford Hospital, where, it was said, he had been treated for a head injury six times in the 10 days previous to his battle with Toles.

Dr. Albert S. Crawford described Adamick's injury as a "brain fusion" or hemorrhage through the entire brain.

Jack Kearns, who started Adamick into the sporting limelight a year or so ago with the announcement that he was a "second Jack Dempsey," promoted the fight show. He still has a part of Adamick, it is understood. He said of the fight:

"I knew the kid was hurt in training, but he thought it was just sinus trouble."

Starter Leads Hole-in-One

A Jamaica Plain man, on his lunch hour, dashed to the Boston Evening American Hole-in-One Contest at Franklin Park and stopped one of his five shots six inches from the cup to take the lead in the annual tournament.

He is A. E. Fletcher, a Boston Elevated starter at Eggleston station. His nice No. 7 iron work made him first to stop the ball within a foot of the cup.

Two women stopped shots within the charmed circle on the green, Mrs. C. R. Smith of Roxbury and Mrs. S. E. Rogers of Roxbury with 8-4 and 8-10 efforts.

Head Injuries End : Boxers, Football
Athletic Careers : Players Suffer

By JACK CONWAY

IT IS UNLIKELY that Jimmy Adamick, young Detroit heavyweight who suffered a concussion of the brain when knocked out by Roscoe Toles, 23-year-old Negro, will ever realize his dream of boxing Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship of the world.

Jack Kearns has also failed in his latest effort to develop a "new Dempsey."

It was punches to the head that knocked Adamick out and sent him to a Detroit hospital in an unconscious condition. Adamick was subjected to a terrific battering around the head before he was finally dropped to the canvas in a helpless condition.

Following the final knockdown, the referee didn't even bother to count. He knew Adamick was not in condition to fight any more and he stopped the bout. Medical aid was rushed to the ringside, and the stricken boxer was removed to a hospital for treatment.

The fact Adamick's injuries were around the head means he is unlikely to go very far in the ring in the event he decides to continue boxing. Head injuries always leave lasting effects on a boxer. Even if the boxer is fortunate enough to recover from the physical effects of them, which is always doubtful, he carries a mental hazard every time he enters a ring. The injured boxer is never able to get out of his mind the fact he was knocked out and might have died from his injuries. He becomes punch shy, and also slows down in his own attack.

It is better for a boxer who has suffered a serious head injury to forget about boxing, and retire and enter some business while he is able to do so.

There was the tragic case of the late Ernie Schaaf, the "Golden Boy" from Wrentham who died in the Polyclinic Hospital several days after being knocked unconscious by a left hand punch delivered by the gigantic Primo Carnera. Schaaf was cut down in the prime of his youth, and at a time when it did not appear as if a punch could knock him down, let alone take his life.

Football Also Has Its Head Injuries

FOOTBALL has also had its share of serious head injuries. Some of these injuries have resulted in instant death, while others have eventually led to death.

There was the case of Al Lagsman of Cambridge who suffered a fractured skull when kicked on the head during a football game. I later met Lagsman at Miami Beach in the company of Coach Chick Meehan of New York University. Lagsman was playing football for Meehan's club at the time he met with his injury.

Tall, handsome and well-built, Lagsman presented a pathetic figure. His memory had left him, and everything that happened before his skull was fractured was a blank.

Later while at a boys' camp in Maine, Lagsman was drowned while trying to rescue a boy who was in trouble in deep water.

Hockey had the near tragic case of Cliff Bailey of the Toronto Maple Leafs, who almost met death when injured in a game at the Garden. Bailey never was able to return to hockey as a player.

Those persons in charge of athletic events should take every possible precaution to avoid serious injuries. Athletes will still get injured despite all efforts that may be made to avert such happenings, but by employing every safeguard, the number of such cases will be kept down to a minimum.

Harvard Doctor Has Final Say

HARVARD HAS one of the finest systems of any college in protecting the health of its athletes. Its doctors keep a close check on every boy taking part in sports events and if he is not physically fit he is not permitted to compete.

On the day of a game with Yale, the Harvard doctor has the authority to put the entire backfield on the inactive list if in his opinion they are not physically fit.

And isn't this the right way to look upon college athletics after all?

If you had a son or a brother in college athletics you would, of course, like to see him in action in the big game, but certainly not at the expense of his health.

I have seen too many of these athletic greats of other years roaming the streets of the city, often without friends and money, their brains in a fog as a result of knocks they suffered in sports, a busy public not knowing of their former triumphs, to believe that a boy should ever be permitted to participate in athletics when not physically fit.

Now that the football season is well under way, coaches of college and school teams should be careful to see that players are not allowed to remain in the lineup after they have become exhausted. That is when most of the football and boxing fatalities occur. A tired football player or boxer is unable to defend himself. He takes the full force of his opponent's drive, and injury is always likely under such conditions.

The health of a single boy is of more importance than all the football championships in the world, or of all the money that can be earned in the boxing game.

Let those persons in responsible positions, especially those entrusted with the care of Athletics, place every possible safeguard around Young America when he competes in sports.
